Part A - Mortgage Loan Policy

1. Purpose and Scope

1.1 This Mortgage Loan Policy (the Policy) sets out eligibility, pricing, sanction and servicing norms for mortgage loans offered by Sample Mortgage Bank Limited (the Bank) to individual borrowers. This is Version 4.0, effective 01-Jul-2022.

1.2 Version precedence: where two versions of this Policy differ, the latest effective version prevails for all new applications. An earlier version continues to apply only to loans sanctioned during that version's effective period.

1.3 Products covered by this Policy:

- Home purchase loan
- Home construction loan
- Home improvement loan
- Loan against property (LAP)

2. Eligibility

The Bank assesses every applicant against the criteria below. An application that does not meet a criterion is declined unless an exception is approved in writing under the exception process of this Policy.

2.1 The minimum age of the applicant at the time of application is 21 years. The maximum age of the applicant at loan maturity is 65 years.

2.2 The minimum credit score required is 700. Applications below this score are declined.

2.3 Self-employed applicants must have a minimum business vintage of 3 years.

2.4 Non-Resident Indians (NRI) are eligible. The maximum LTV for NRI applicants is 70% irrespective of loan amount.

Table 1: Eligibility summary

Criterion	Requirement
Minimum age at application	21 years
Maximum age at maturity	65 years
Minimum credit score	700
Self-employed business vintage	At least 3 years
NRI applicants	Eligible, maximum LTV 70%

3. Loan Quantum

3.1 Minimum loan amount: Rs 10 lakh. Maximum loan amount: Rs 2.5 crore per borrower.

3.2 The maximum Loan-to-Value (LTV) ratio depends on the loan amount requested: up to Rs 30 lakh: 85%; above Rs 30 lakh and up to Rs 75 lakh: 80%; above Rs 75 lakh: 75%.

Table 2: Maximum LTV by loan amount

Loan amount requested	Maximum LTV
Up to Rs 30 lakh	85%
Above Rs 30 lakh and up to Rs 75 lakh	80%

3.3 The maximum Fixed Obligation to Income Ratio (FOIR) is 55% of net monthly income. Maximum permissible EMI = FOIR x net monthly income - existing monthly obligations.

4. Tenure

4.1 The maximum loan tenure is 30 years, subject to the maximum age at maturity in clause 2.1.

5. Pricing and Charges

5.1 Floating interest rate = Bank Reference Rate (BRR) + spread. Under this version the BRR is 8.25% per annum and the spread is 2.75% per annum, so the applicable floating rate is 11.00% per annum.

5.2 Processing fee: 0.75% of the sanctioned loan amount, exclusive of taxes.

5.3 Valuation fee: Rs 3,000 per property, non-refundable.

5.4 Penal charge on overdue EMI: 18% per annum on the overdue amount, calculated daily on a 365-day year.

5.5 Prepayment / foreclosure charge on floating rate loans to individual borrowers: 1% of the principal amount prepaid.

Table 3: Summary of charges

Charge	Rate / amount	Basis
Interest rate (floating)	11.00% p.a.	BRR + spread
Processing fee	0.75%	Sanctioned loan amount, excl. taxes
Valuation fee	Rs 3,000	Per property
Penal charge on overdue EMI	18% p.a.	Overdue amount, daily, 365-day year
Prepayment charge (floating)	1%	Principal amount prepaid

6. Security and Insurance

6.1 Mortgage of the financed property is mandatory. Property (fire and allied perils) insurance is mandatory. Life insurance cover for the primary borrower is optional.

7. Sanction and Disbursement

7.1 A sanction letter is valid for 120 days from the date of issue. If the loan is not disbursed within the validity period the sanction lapses.

8. Special Features

8.1 Top-up loan: existing borrowers with a satisfactory repayment track record may avail a top-up of up to 50% of the outstanding principal.

9. Sanctioning Authority

9.1 Branches are graded A, B and C. Maximum loan a branch may sanction: Grade A - Rs 150 lakh; Grade B - Rs 75 lakh; Grade C - Rs 40 lakh. Loans above the branch limit must be referred to the Regional Credit Committee.

Table 4: Branch sanction limits

Branch grade	Maximum loan the branch may sanction
Grade A	Rs 150 lakh
Grade B	Rs 75 lakh
Grade C	Rs 40 lakh

10. Annexures

10.1 Annexure A (Branch Master) and Annexure B (Document Retention Register) are placed at the end of this document.

Part B - Operating Guidelines

Part B sets out the operating procedures that support the Policy in Part A. Each chapter deals with one function and is divided into five sections: objective, roles, procedure, exceptions and records.

Chapter 11: Credit appraisal (Part 1)

11.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the credit appraisal requirements described in chapter 11. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to repayment capacity and existing obligations.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on credit appraisal is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

11.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the credit appraisal requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to repayment capacity and existing obligations.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the credit appraisal activities in chapter 11.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

11.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for credit appraisal is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 11.3: Stages and time limits - credit appraisal

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	7 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	2 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	4 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	6 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

11.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the credit appraisal requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving repayment capacity and existing obligations that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

11.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to credit appraisal are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on credit appraisal to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 11.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 12: Income assessment (Part 1)

12.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the income assessment requirements described in chapter 12. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to the stability and verifiability of income.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on income assessment is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

12.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the income assessment requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to the stability and verifiability of income.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the income assessment activities in chapter 12.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

12.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for income assessment is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

12.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the income assessment requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving the stability and verifiability of income that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

12.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to income assessment are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on income assessment to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 12.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 13: Property valuation (Part 1)

13.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the property valuation requirements described in chapter 13. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to market value and condition of the property.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on property valuation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

13.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the property valuation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to market value and condition of the property.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the property valuation activities in chapter 13.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

13.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for property valuation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Chapter 14: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 1)

14.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 14. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

14.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the legal and title scrutiny requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and marketable title.

Chapter 16: Loan documentation (Part 1)

16.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the loan documentation requirements described in chapter 16. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on loan documentation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

16.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for loan documentation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 16.3: Stages and time limits - loan documentation

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	1 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	3 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	5 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	7 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

16.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the loan documentation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving completeness and accuracy of signed documents that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

16.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to loan documentation are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on loan documentation to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 16.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 17: Disbursement conditions (Part 1)

17.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the disbursement conditions requirements described in chapter 17. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on disbursement conditions is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

17.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the disbursement conditions requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the disbursement conditions activities in chapter 17.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

17.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for disbursement conditions is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

17.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the disbursement conditions requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving conditions to be met before funds are released that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

17.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to disbursement conditions are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on disbursement conditions to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 17.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 18: Collections and recovery (Part 1)

18.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the collections and recovery requirements described in chapter 18. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on collections and recovery is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.

Chapter 19: Customer grievance handling (Part 1)

19.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer grievance handling requirements described in chapter 19. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to acknowledgement, investigation and closure of complaints.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer grievance handling is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 20: Internal audit and compliance (Part 1)

20.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the internal audit and compliance requirements described in chapter 20. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on internal audit and compliance is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

20.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the internal audit and compliance requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the internal audit and compliance activities in chapter 20.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

20.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for internal audit and compliance is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Chapter 21: Data privacy and record keeping (Part 1)

21.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the data privacy and record keeping requirements described in chapter 21. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to safe handling of personal information.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on data privacy and record keeping is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

21.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the data privacy and record keeping requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to safe handling of personal information.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the data privacy and record keeping activities in chapter 21.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

21.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for data privacy and record keeping is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

22.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the fraud monitoring requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving red-flag indicators and escalation that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

22.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to fraud monitoring are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Chapter 23: Customer communication (Part 1)

23.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 23. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

23.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer communication activities in chapter 23.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

23.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer communication is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 23.3: Stages and time limits - customer communication

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	1 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	3 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	5 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	7 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

23.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer communication requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and timely communication to customers that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

23.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to customer communication are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on customer communication to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 23.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 24: Staff training and certification (Part 1)

24.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the staff training and certification requirements described in chapter 24. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on staff training and certification is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

24.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the staff training and certification requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Chapter 25: Credit appraisal (Part 2)

25.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the credit appraisal requirements described in chapter 25. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to repayment capacity and existing obligations.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on credit appraisal is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 30: Loan documentation (Part 2)

30.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the loan documentation requirements described in chapter 30. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on loan documentation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

30.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the loan documentation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the loan documentation activities in chapter 30.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

30.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for loan documentation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 30.3: Stages and time limits - loan documentation

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	1 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	3 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	5 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	7 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

30.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the loan documentation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving completeness and accuracy of signed documents that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

30.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to loan documentation are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on loan documentation to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 30.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 31: Disbursement conditions (Part 2)

31.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the disbursement conditions requirements described in chapter 31. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on disbursement conditions is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the disbursement conditions activities in chapter 31.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

31.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for disbursement conditions is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

31.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the disbursement conditions requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving conditions to be met before funds are released that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Chapter 32: Collections and recovery (Part 2)

32.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the collections and recovery requirements described in chapter 32. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on collections and recovery is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 36: Fraud monitoring (Part 2)

36.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 36. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

36.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the fraud monitoring requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Chapter 37: Customer communication (Part 2)

37.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 37. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

37.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer communication activities in chapter 37.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

37.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer communication is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 37.3: Stages and time limits - customer communication

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	1 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	3 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	5 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	7 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

37.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer communication requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and timely communication to customers that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

37.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to customer communication are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on customer communication to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 37.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 38: Staff training and certification (Part 2)

38.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the staff training and certification requirements described in chapter 38. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on staff training and certification is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

38.2 Roles and responsibilities

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

38.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the staff training and certification requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Chapter 39: Credit appraisal (Part 3)

39.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the credit appraisal requirements described in chapter 39. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to repayment capacity and existing obligations.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on credit appraisal is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

39.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the credit appraisal requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to repayment capacity and existing obligations.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

43.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to kyc and anti-money-laundering checks are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 43.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 44: Loan documentation (Part 3)

44.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the loan documentation requirements described in chapter 44. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on loan documentation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

44.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the loan documentation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the loan documentation activities in chapter 44.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

44.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for loan documentation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 44.3: Stages and time limits - loan documentation

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	1 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	3 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	5 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	7 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

44.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the loan documentation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving completeness and accuracy of signed documents that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

44.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to loan documentation are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on loan documentation to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 44.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 45: Disbursement conditions (Part 3)

45.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the disbursement conditions requirements described in chapter 45. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on disbursement conditions is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

45.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the disbursement conditions requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the disbursement conditions activities in chapter 45.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

45.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for disbursement conditions is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

45.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the disbursement conditions requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving conditions to be met before funds are released that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Chapter 46: Collections and recovery (Part 3)

46.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the collections and recovery requirements described in chapter 46. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on collections and recovery is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 50: Fraud monitoring (Part 3)

50.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 50. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

50.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the fraud monitoring requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

50.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the fraud monitoring requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving red-flag indicators and escalation that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

50.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to fraud monitoring are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on fraud monitoring to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 50.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 51: Customer communication (Part 3)

51.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 51. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

51.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer communication activities in chapter 51.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

51.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer communication is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 51.3: Stages and time limits - customer communication

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	1 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	3 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	5 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	7 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

51.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer communication requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and timely communication to customers that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

51.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to customer communication are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on customer communication to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 51.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 52: Staff training and certification (Part 3)

52.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the staff training and certification requirements described in chapter 52. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on staff training and certification is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

52.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the staff training and certification requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

52.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the staff training and certification requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Chapter 53: Credit appraisal (Part 4)

53.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the credit appraisal requirements described in chapter 53. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to repayment capacity and existing obligations.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on credit appraisal is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Approval	Regional Credit Manager	2 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	4 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

57.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving customer identity and source of funds that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

57.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to kyc and anti-money-laundering checks are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 57.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 58: Loan documentation (Part 4)

58.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the loan documentation requirements described in chapter 58. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on loan documentation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

58.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the loan documentation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the loan documentation activities in chapter 58.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

58.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for loan documentation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	1 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	3 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	5 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	7 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

58.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the loan documentation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving completeness and accuracy of signed documents that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

58.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to loan documentation are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on loan documentation to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 58.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 59: Disbursement conditions (Part 4)

59.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the disbursement conditions requirements described in chapter 59. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on disbursement conditions is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

59.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the disbursement conditions requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the disbursement conditions activities in chapter 59.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

59.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for disbursement conditions is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

59.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the disbursement conditions requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving conditions to be met before funds are released that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Chapter 60: Collections and recovery (Part 4)

60.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the collections and recovery requirements described in chapter 60. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on collections and recovery is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

60.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the collections and recovery requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

64.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for fraud monitoring is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 64.3: Stages and time limits - fraud monitoring

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	5 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	7 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	2 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	4 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

64.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the fraud monitoring requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving red-flag indicators and escalation that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

64.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to fraud monitoring are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on fraud monitoring to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 64.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 65: Customer communication (Part 4)

65.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 65. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

65.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer communication activities in chapter 65.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

65.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer communication is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Chapter 66: Staff training and certification (Part 4)

66.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the staff training and certification requirements described in chapter 66. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on staff training and certification is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks activities in chapter 71.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

71.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 71.3: Stages and time limits - kyc and anti-money-laundering checks

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	5 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	7 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	2 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	4 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

71.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving customer identity and source of funds that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

71.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to kyc and anti-money-laundering checks are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 71.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 72: Loan documentation (Part 5)

72.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the loan documentation requirements described in chapter 72. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on loan documentation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

72.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the loan documentation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Chapter 73: Disbursement conditions (Part 5)

73.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the disbursement conditions requirements described in chapter 73. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Chapter 74: Collections and recovery (Part 5)

74.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the collections and recovery requirements described in chapter 74. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on collections and recovery is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 78: Fraud monitoring (Part 5)

78.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 78. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

78.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the fraud monitoring requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the fraud monitoring activities in chapter 78.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

78.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for fraud monitoring is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 78.3: Stages and time limits - fraud monitoring

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	5 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	7 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	2 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	4 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

78.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the fraud monitoring requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving red-flag indicators and escalation that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

78.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to fraud monitoring are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on fraud monitoring to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 78.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 79: Customer communication (Part 5)

79.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 79. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

79.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer communication activities in chapter 79.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

79.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer communication is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

79.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer communication requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and timely communication to customers that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

Chapter 80: Staff training and certification (Part 5)

80.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the staff training and certification requirements described in chapter 80. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on staff training and certification is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.

Chapter 84: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 6)

84.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 84. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

84.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the legal and title scrutiny requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and marketable title.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Chapter 85: KYC and anti-money-laundering checks (Part 6)

85.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements described in chapter 85. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to customer identity and source of funds.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

85.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to customer identity and source of funds.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks activities in chapter 85.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

85.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 85.3: Stages and time limits - kyc and anti-money-laundering checks

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	5 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	7 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	2 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	4 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

85.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving customer identity and source of funds that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

85.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to kyc and anti-money-laundering checks are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 85.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 86: Loan documentation (Part 6)

86.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the loan documentation requirements described in chapter 86. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on loan documentation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

86.2 Roles and responsibilities

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

86.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the loan documentation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving completeness and accuracy of signed documents that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

Chapter 87: Disbursement conditions (Part 6)

87.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the disbursement conditions requirements described in chapter 87. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to conditions to be met before funds are released.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on disbursement conditions is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.

Chapter 88: Collections and recovery (Part 6)

88.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the collections and recovery requirements described in chapter 88. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on collections and recovery is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 89: Customer grievance handling (Part 6)

89.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer grievance handling requirements described in chapter 89. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to acknowledgement, investigation and closure of complaints.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer grievance handling is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

89.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer grievance handling requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to acknowledgement, investigation and closure of complaints.

Chapter 91: Data privacy and record keeping (Part 6)

91.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the data privacy and record keeping requirements described in chapter 91. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to safe handling of personal information.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on data privacy and record keeping is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

91.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the data privacy and record keeping requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to safe handling of personal information.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the data privacy and record keeping activities in chapter 91.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

91.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for data privacy and record keeping is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

91.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the data privacy and record keeping requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving safe handling of personal information that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

91.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to data privacy and record keeping are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on data privacy and record keeping to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 91.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 92: Fraud monitoring (Part 6)

92.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 92. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

92.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the fraud monitoring requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the fraud monitoring activities in chapter 92.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

92.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for fraud monitoring is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 92.3: Stages and time limits - fraud monitoring

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	5 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	7 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	2 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	4 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

92.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the fraud monitoring requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving red-flag indicators and escalation that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

92.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to fraud monitoring are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on fraud monitoring to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 92.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 93: Customer communication (Part 6)

93.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 93. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

93.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer communication activities in chapter 93.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

93.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer communication is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

93.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer communication requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and timely communication to customers that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

93.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to customer communication are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on customer communication to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 93.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 94: Staff training and certification (Part 6)

94.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the staff training and certification requirements described in chapter 94. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on staff training and certification is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.

Chapter 98: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 7)

98.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 98. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

98.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the legal and title scrutiny requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and marketable title.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

98.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the legal and title scrutiny requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and marketable title that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

98.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to legal and title scrutiny are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on legal and title scrutiny to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 98.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 99: KYC and anti-money-laundering checks (Part 7)

99.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements described in chapter 99. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to customer identity and source of funds.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

99.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to customer identity and source of funds.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks activities in chapter 99.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

99.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 99.3: Stages and time limits - kyc and anti-money-laundering checks

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	5 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	7 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	2 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	4 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

99.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving customer identity and source of funds that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

99.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to kyc and anti-money-laundering checks are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Chapter 100: Loan documentation (Part 7)

100.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the loan documentation requirements described in chapter 100. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Review and verification	Credit Officer	4 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	6 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	1 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

105.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the data privacy and record keeping requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving safe handling of personal information that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

105.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to data privacy and record keeping are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on data privacy and record keeping to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 105.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 106: Fraud monitoring (Part 7)

106.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 106. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

106.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the fraud monitoring requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the fraud monitoring activities in chapter 106.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

106.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for fraud monitoring is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

106.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the fraud monitoring requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving red-flag indicators and escalation that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

106.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to fraud monitoring are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Chapter 107: Customer communication (Part 7)

107.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 107. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

107.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer communication activities in chapter 107.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

107.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer communication is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

107.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer communication requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and timely communication to customers that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

107.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to customer communication are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Chapter 108: Staff training and certification (Part 7)

108.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the staff training and certification requirements described in chapter 108. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on staff training and certification is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

108.2 Roles and responsibilities

- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

112.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for legal and title scrutiny is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 112.3: Stages and time limits - legal and title scrutiny

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	2 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	4 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	6 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	1 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

112.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the legal and title scrutiny requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and marketable title that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

112.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to legal and title scrutiny are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on legal and title scrutiny to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 112.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 113: KYC and anti-money-laundering checks (Part 8)

113.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements described in chapter 113. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to customer identity and source of funds.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

113.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to customer identity and source of funds.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks activities in chapter 113.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

113.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

113.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to kyc and anti-money-laundering checks are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Chapter 114: Loan documentation (Part 8)

114.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the loan documentation requirements described in chapter 114. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to completeness and accuracy of signed documents.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Chapter 119: Data privacy and record keeping (Part 8)

119.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the data privacy and record keeping requirements described in chapter 119. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to safe handling of personal information.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on data privacy and record keeping is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

119.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the data privacy and record keeping requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to safe handling of personal information.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the data privacy and record keeping activities in chapter 119.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

119.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for data privacy and record keeping is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 119.3: Stages and time limits - data privacy and record keeping

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	2 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	4 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	6 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	1 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

119.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the data privacy and record keeping requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving safe handling of personal information that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

119.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to data privacy and record keeping are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on data privacy and record keeping to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 119.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 120: Fraud monitoring (Part 8)

120.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 120. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

120.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the fraud monitoring requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the fraud monitoring activities in chapter 120.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

120.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for fraud monitoring is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

120.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the fraud monitoring requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving red-flag indicators and escalation that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

120.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to fraud monitoring are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on fraud monitoring to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 120.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 121: Customer communication (Part 8)

121.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 121. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

121.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer communication activities in chapter 121.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

121.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer communication is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Approval	Regional Credit Manager	5 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	7 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

121.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer communication requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and timely communication to customers that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

121.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to customer communication are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on customer communication to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 121.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 122: Staff training and certification (Part 8)

122.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the staff training and certification requirements described in chapter 122. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to role-based learning and periodic refresher assessment.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on staff training and certification is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 125: Property valuation (Part 9)

125.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the property valuation requirements described in chapter 125. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to market value and condition of the property.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on property valuation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

125.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the property valuation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to market value and condition of the property.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the property valuation activities in chapter 125.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

125.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for property valuation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

125.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the property valuation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving market value and condition of the property that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

125.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to property valuation are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on property valuation to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 125.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 126: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 9)

126.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 126. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

126.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the legal and title scrutiny requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and marketable title.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the legal and title scrutiny activities in chapter 126.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

126.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for legal and title scrutiny is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 126.3: Stages and time limits - legal and title scrutiny

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	2 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	4 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	6 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	1 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

126.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the legal and title scrutiny requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and marketable title that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

126.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to legal and title scrutiny are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on legal and title scrutiny to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 126.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 127: KYC and anti-money-laundering checks (Part 9)

127.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements described in chapter 127. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to customer identity and source of funds.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.

132.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the internal audit and compliance requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

132.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to internal audit and compliance are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on internal audit and compliance to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 132.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 133: Data privacy and record keeping (Part 9)

133.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the data privacy and record keeping requirements described in chapter 133. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to safe handling of personal information.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on data privacy and record keeping is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

133.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the data privacy and record keeping requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to safe handling of personal information.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the data privacy and record keeping activities in chapter 133.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

133.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for data privacy and record keeping is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 133.3: Stages and time limits - data privacy and record keeping

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	2 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	4 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	6 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	1 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

133.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the data privacy and record keeping requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving safe handling of personal information that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

133.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to data privacy and record keeping are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on data privacy and record keeping to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 133.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 134: Fraud monitoring (Part 9)

134.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 134. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

134.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the fraud monitoring requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to red-flag indicators and escalation.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

134.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the fraud monitoring requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving red-flag indicators and escalation that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.

Chapter 135: Customer communication (Part 9)

135.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer communication requirements described in chapter 135. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and timely communication to customers.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer communication is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

135.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer communication requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and timely communication to customers.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

135.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer communication requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and timely communication to customers that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.

Chapter 139: Property valuation (Part 10)

139.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the property valuation requirements described in chapter 139. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to market value and condition of the property.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on property valuation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

139.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the property valuation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to market value and condition of the property.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the property valuation activities in chapter 139.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

139.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for property valuation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

139.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the property valuation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving market value and condition of the property that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

139.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to property valuation are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on property valuation to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 139.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 140: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 10)

140.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 140. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

140.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the legal and title scrutiny requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to clear and marketable title.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the legal and title scrutiny activities in chapter 140.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

140.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for legal and title scrutiny is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 140.3: Stages and time limits - legal and title scrutiny

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	2 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	4 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	6 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	1 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

140.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the legal and title scrutiny requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving clear and marketable title that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

Chapter 141: KYC and anti-money-laundering checks (Part 10)

141.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the kyc and anti-money-laundering checks requirements described in chapter 141. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to customer identity and source of funds.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on kyc and anti-money-laundering checks is available on the staff portal.

146.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for internal audit and compliance is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 146.3: Stages and time limits - internal audit and compliance

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	6 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	1 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	3 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	5 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

146.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the internal audit and compliance requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

146.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to internal audit and compliance are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on internal audit and compliance to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 146.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 147: Data privacy and record keeping (Part 10)

147.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the data privacy and record keeping requirements described in chapter 147. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to safe handling of personal information.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on data privacy and record keeping is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

147.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the data privacy and record keeping requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to safe handling of personal information.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the data privacy and record keeping activities in chapter 147.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

147.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for data privacy and record keeping is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

147.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to data privacy and record keeping are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on data privacy and record keeping to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Chapter 148: Fraud monitoring (Part 10)

148.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 148. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

152.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the income assessment requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving the stability and verifiability of income that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

152.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to income assessment are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on income assessment to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 152.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 153: Property valuation (Part 11)

153.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the property valuation requirements described in chapter 153. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to market value and condition of the property.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on property valuation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

153.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the property valuation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to market value and condition of the property.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the property valuation activities in chapter 153.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

153.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for property valuation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 153.3: Stages and time limits - property valuation

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	6 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	1 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	3 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	5 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

153.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the property valuation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving market value and condition of the property that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

153.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to property valuation are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on property valuation to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 153.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 154: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 11)

154.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 154. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

Chapter 160: Internal audit and compliance (Part 11)

160.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the internal audit and compliance requirements described in chapter 160. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on internal audit and compliance is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

160.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the internal audit and compliance requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the internal audit and compliance activities in chapter 160.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

160.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for internal audit and compliance is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 160.3: Stages and time limits - internal audit and compliance

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	6 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	1 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	3 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	5 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

160.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the internal audit and compliance requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

160.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to internal audit and compliance are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on internal audit and compliance to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 160.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 161: Data privacy and record keeping (Part 11)

161.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the data privacy and record keeping requirements described in chapter 161. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to safe handling of personal information.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on data privacy and record keeping is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

161.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the data privacy and record keeping requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to safe handling of personal information.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the data privacy and record keeping activities in chapter 161.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

161.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for data privacy and record keeping is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

161.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the data privacy and record keeping requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving safe handling of personal information that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

161.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to data privacy and record keeping are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on data privacy and record keeping to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 161.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.

Chapter 162: Fraud monitoring (Part 11)

162.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 162. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

162.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the fraud monitoring requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Chapter 166: Income assessment (Part 12)

166.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the income assessment requirements described in chapter 166. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to the stability and verifiability of income.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on income assessment is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

166.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the income assessment requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to the stability and verifiability of income.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the income assessment activities in chapter 166.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

166.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for income assessment is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

166.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the income assessment requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving the stability and verifiability of income that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

166.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to income assessment are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on income assessment to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 166.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 167: Property valuation (Part 12)

167.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the property valuation requirements described in chapter 167. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to market value and condition of the property.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on property valuation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

167.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the property valuation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to market value and condition of the property.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the property valuation activities in chapter 167.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

167.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for property valuation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 167.3: Stages and time limits - property valuation

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	6 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	1 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	3 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	5 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

167.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the property valuation requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving market value and condition of the property that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

167.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to property valuation are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on property valuation to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Chapter 168: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 12)

168.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 168. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 173: Customer grievance handling (Part 12)

173.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the customer grievance handling requirements described in chapter 173. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to acknowledgement, investigation and closure of complaints.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on customer grievance handling is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

173.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer grievance handling requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving acknowledgement, investigation and closure of complaints that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

173.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to customer grievance handling are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on customer grievance handling to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 173.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 174: Internal audit and compliance (Part 12)

174.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the internal audit and compliance requirements described in chapter 174. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on internal audit and compliance is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

174.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the internal audit and compliance requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the internal audit and compliance activities in chapter 174.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

174.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for internal audit and compliance is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 174.3: Stages and time limits - internal audit and compliance

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	6 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	1 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	3 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	5 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

174.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the internal audit and compliance requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

174.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to internal audit and compliance are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Chapter 175: Data privacy and record keeping (Part 12)

175.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the data privacy and record keeping requirements described in chapter 175. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to safe handling of personal information.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on data privacy and record keeping is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

175.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the data privacy and record keeping requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to safe handling of personal information.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the data privacy and record keeping activities in chapter 175.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

175.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for data privacy and record keeping is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Chapter 176: Fraud monitoring (Part 12)

176.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the fraud monitoring requirements described in chapter 176. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to red-flag indicators and escalation.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on fraud monitoring is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 180: Income assessment (Part 13)

180.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the income assessment requirements described in chapter 180. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to the stability and verifiability of income.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on income assessment is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

180.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the income assessment requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to the stability and verifiability of income.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the income assessment activities in chapter 180.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

180.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for income assessment is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 180.3: Stages and time limits - income assessment

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	3 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	5 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	7 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	2 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

180.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the income assessment requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving the stability and verifiability of income that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

180.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to income assessment are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on income assessment to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 180.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 181: Property valuation (Part 13)

181.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the property valuation requirements described in chapter 181. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to market value and condition of the property.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on property valuation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

181.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the property valuation requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to market value and condition of the property.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the property valuation activities in chapter 181.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

181.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for property valuation is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Chapter 182: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 13)

182.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 182. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

187.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the customer grievance handling requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to acknowledgement, investigation and closure of complaints.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the customer grievance handling activities in chapter 187.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

187.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for customer grievance handling is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 187.3: Stages and time limits - customer grievance handling

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	3 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Review and verification	Credit Officer	5 working days
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	7 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	2 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

187.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the customer grievance handling requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving acknowledgement, investigation and closure of complaints that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

187.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to customer grievance handling are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on customer grievance handling to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 187.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 188: Internal audit and compliance (Part 13)

188.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the internal audit and compliance requirements described in chapter 188. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on internal audit and compliance is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

188.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the internal audit and compliance requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to adherence to approved procedures and timely reporting.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Chapter 189: Data privacy and record keeping (Part 13)

189.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the data privacy and record keeping requirements described in chapter 189. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to safe handling of personal information.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on data privacy and record keeping is available on the staff portal.

193.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the credit appraisal requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to repayment capacity and existing obligations.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the credit appraisal activities in chapter 193.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.
- Retail Credit Policy Department: periodic review of this chapter.

193.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for credit appraisal is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Chapter 194: Income assessment (Part 14)

194.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the income assessment requirements described in chapter 194. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to the stability and verifiability of income.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on income assessment is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

194.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the income assessment requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to the stability and verifiability of income.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the income assessment activities in chapter 194.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

194.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for income assessment is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

Table 194.3: Stages and time limits - income assessment

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Receipt and logging	Branch Operations Officer	3 working days
Review and verification	Credit Officer	5 working days

Stage	Responsible officer	Time limit
Approval	Regional Credit Manager	7 working days
Communication to customer	Customer Service Executive	2 working days

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

194.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the income assessment requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving the stability and verifiability of income that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

194.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to income assessment are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on income assessment to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 194.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.

Chapter 195: Property valuation (Part 14)

195.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the property valuation requirements described in chapter 195. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to market value and condition of the property.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on property valuation is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.

Chapter 196: Legal and title scrutiny (Part 14)

196.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the legal and title scrutiny requirements described in chapter 196. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to clear and marketable title.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on legal and title scrutiny is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.

Chapter 200: Collections and recovery (Part 14)

200.1 Objective and applicability

This section sets out the objective and applicability of the collections and recovery requirements described in chapter 200. It applies to all branches, regional offices and the central processing centre that handle mortgage loan applications.

The Bank applies these requirements uniformly to every product covered by the Policy so that customers receive consistent treatment irrespective of the branch they approach. Particular attention is given to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

Where a local instruction conflicts with this section, the requirement of this Policy applies unless the Head of Retail Credit has issued a written clarification.

Officers are expected to read this section together with the related sections of Part A and to ask the Retail Credit Policy Department for clarification when the intended application is unclear. Training material on collections and recovery is available on the staff portal.

- Applies to all new mortgage applications and to existing borrowers where a service request is raised.
- Covers home purchase, construction, improvement and loan against property products.
- Is read together with the other chapters of this Policy.

200.2 Roles and responsibilities

The Branch Manager is responsible for ensuring that the collections and recovery requirements are followed at the branch. The Credit Officer reviews each file and records observations on the file note, giving particular attention to early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice.

Regional Credit Managers monitor compliance on a sample basis and report material deviations to the Head of Retail Credit. Staff who are unsure of a requirement must seek guidance before proceeding.

Nothing in this section removes the personal accountability of each officer for the accuracy of the information recorded by that officer.

Role holders must not delegate a decision to a junior officer unless the delegation is recorded in writing. Where an officer is absent, the Branch Manager nominates a suitable replacement for the collections and recovery activities in chapter 200.

- Branch Manager: overall responsibility for compliance at branch level.
- Credit Officer: file review and recording of observations.
- Regional Credit Manager: sample monitoring and escalation.

200.3 Procedure and timelines

The procedure for collections and recovery is carried out in the stages shown in the table below. Each stage must be completed within the time limit shown, counted in working days from the date the file is received by the responsible officer.

Officers must record the date and time of each stage in the loan origination system. A file that cannot progress because of missing information is returned to the customer with a clear list of what is required.

Time limits stop running while the Bank is waiting for information from the customer and resume when the information is received.

The customer is informed of the outcome of each stage through the channel chosen at the time of application. Where a stage is delayed beyond its limit, the responsible officer records the reason and informs the customer of the revised date.

- Log every file on the day of receipt.
- Return incomplete files with a written list of missing items.
- Record the outcome of each stage in the system.

200.4 Exceptions and escalation

Any exception to the collections and recovery requirements must be requested in writing, with reasons, and approved by an officer at least one level above the officer who would normally decide the file.

Cases involving early contact with the borrower and fair recovery practice that cannot be resolved at branch level are escalated to the Regional Credit Manager and, where necessary, to the Regional Credit Committee.

Approved exceptions are reported in the monthly exceptions summary. Repeated exceptions of the same kind are reviewed to decide whether this Policy needs to be amended.

The escalation matrix is reviewed every year. Officers must not split a case into smaller parts to avoid escalation, and any attempt to do so is treated as a breach of the Bank's code of conduct.

- Written request stating the reason for the exception.
- Approval by an officer at least one level higher.
- Entry in the monthly exceptions summary.

200.5 Records and reporting

Records relating to collections and recovery are maintained in the loan file and in the loan origination system. Entries must be complete, dated and traceable to the officer who made them.

Branches submit a monthly report on collections and recovery to the regional office. The regional office consolidates these reports for the quarterly review by the Retail Credit Policy Department.

Records are retained for the period set out in the document retention register at the end of this document.

Internal audit tests a sample of loan files each year to confirm that the records described in section 200.5 are complete. Findings are shared with the Branch Manager and tracked until closed.

- Keep the loan file complete and in the prescribed order.
- Submit the monthly report by the fifth working day of the following month.
- Do not alter a closed record; add a dated correction note instead.
